Abstract:

Udit Narayan Jha, a renowned singer, has been enthraling audiences globally with his unique voice for over four decades. This legendary singer, who has received four National Awards, is a symbol of Indian culture and a true son of the Indian soil. Born in a small village, this humble artist has become a shining star in Bollywood. With a career spanning over 40 years, Udit Narayan has sung hundreds of songs, including devotional songs dedicated to Ma Kali and other deities. He has also lent his voice to various projects, including those dedicated to Dr. Bhimrao Ambedkar and Shivaji Maharaj.

Udit Narayan is known for his simplicity, humility, and kindness. He is a devoted son, taking care of his mother, Bhuvaneshwari Devi. Every year, he provides financial support to over 350 underprivileged students, keeping his philanthropic efforts away from the media spotlight. The Pandit Udit Narayan Human Development Resource Center, affiliated with the NITI Aayog and the Ministry of Social Justice, has been receiving financial support from Udit Narayan for over 35 years.

Dr. Pandit Ghanshyam Ji Suman Pundlik Thorat, a renowned singer, educator, and social worker, is a close friend and disciple of Udit Narayan. He has been running the Pandit Udit Narayan English Medium School in Kusumba and the Udit Times newspaper since 1998. Recently, Dr. Ghanshyam Ji received the "Pride of India" award from the Indian Army. He is currently working on a research paper on Udit Narayan's life, which will be published with ISBN recognition from America and India. Renowned singer and musician Anup Jalota has hailed this literary creation as a "great event."

Introduction:

Udit Narayan was born on December 1, 1955, in the small village of Bansi in Supaul district, Bihar. However, his birthplace is disputed, but his father does not acknowledge it as his birthplace since he was born at his maternal home.

Udit Narayan's grandfather, Hari Krishna Jha, was a Brahmin farmer who lived in Bansi village, Bihar. After completing his SSC, Udit Narayan pursued further education at Ratna Lakshmi Campus in Kathmandu.

Udit Narayan began his music career in Nepal, working as a singer at Radio Nepal, singing Maithili and Nepali folk songs. After eight years, he received a scholarship to study classical music at Indian Vidya Bhavan in Mumbai. In 1978, Udit Narayan moved to Mumbai and got his first break as a playback singer with music director Rajesh Roshan. He sang alongside Mohammed Rafi in a film.
